Thinking Out Loud

(By H. M. L.)

Voracious little Japan is biting another big chunk out of China. There are something like 90-million people on the piece of map which is changing color. One is reminded at this point that some hundreds of years ago the Manchus did exactly the same thing. Bit by bit they gobbled up all of China, but what happened? The Manchus became more Chinese than the Chinese. The big northern race, broad, tall, raw boned, full of fight and abounding energy presently tamed down, and the present Emperor of Manchoukuo is a sample of latter day Manchus who remained in China. In other words China overwhelms her conquerors, or at least has done so in the past.

To assume that the same thing will happen to the Japanese, is perhaps to assume too much. True the Japanese are really only another race of Mongols, but their temperament is very different from that of the Chinese. They are a nation which has "gone Occidental." Most of their leaders have been educated in the United States and Europe. They are overwhelmingly ambitious and nationalistic. A regimented nation themselves, it will not be surprising if they are able to regiment the Chinese to some extent. For a good many years the "Yellow Peril" has been the bogey of Western races, and if there is such a thing, it is palpably much nearer now. Assimulation of Japenese may come in some hundreds of years, but before it occurs, much may happen on this sphere of ours.

Eighteen percent of highway accidents involve busses or trucks. It will be noted that this is a much higher percentage than the percentage of these motor vehicles in the total number of cars, busses and trucks using the highways. The proportion of accidents caused directly or indirectly by trucks and busses, then, is much higher than it should be. In the last three years a total of 1,085 people have been killed on California highways, and 9,039 injured. Total casualties, 10,124, or roughly, 1,800 killed and injured because of busses and trucks. It is high time that something were done to limit the operation of these huge, heavy vehicles on the highways. Their gross receipts tax and other taxes do not begin to offset their potential danger and nuisance.

The United States is now embarked on a ten year period during which it will tutor the Phillippines. At one time it was feared that, when this country surrendered the islands, Japan would step in and take them over. Apparently this no longer need be feared. Japan has a much larger task in China, an enterprise which, if left alone, should occupy her for at least a century. In the meantime the Filipinos will have an opportunity to develop self-government. Whether the United States will ever sever all bonds with these islands, and come to a point at which the people there will be placed on exactly the same basis as other foreign nations, is doubtful. For one thing, a great deal of American capital is invested there, and for another, if the Pacific should ever be the storm center of another world war, the Phillippines might easily be a large factor in American victory or defeat.

Selling used cars at any time is a capricious business. But it seems, from the accounts of dealers, as if the New Deal, or if a Republican were describing it, the "return to normalcy," was making it a bit more difficult than usual to sell used cars. The reason if that everyone who can afford it, prefers a new car. Now a condition has become far more general than it was a year ago. More people find themselves sufficiently prosperous to buy new cars instead of used cars .The result is that real bargains in used cars go begging these days, and another result is that "blue book" values for used cars are dropping. These means that in turning in the old car, the allowance will not be so large as it has been. This all goes to show that the country is far more prosperous than a year ago. The records of the auto manufacturing industry, bear out this conclusion. The big dealers state that now with the 1936 models offering, sales are better than they have been since October, 1929.

S. Lee Leiter Sells Historic Lace House to Mrs. Ruby Miller

Ruby Miller, proprietor of the Ruby Miller Frock Shop in Oakland has purchased S. Lee Leiter's Lace House in this city. The new owner is now preparing for a huge store-wide merchandise sale tomorrow as described in advertising columns of this newspaper today. She states that she will continue to sell women's, men and children's wear, as Mr. Leiter has in the past, and that Mr. Leiter will continue in the store as friend, mentor and guide in launching the business under its new management.

The S. Lee Leiter Lace House for 38 years has been the leading department— store in Nevada City, and its sale is a matter of wide interest in this community and through out the mountain districts, where Lee Leiter's name is honored. To thousands of patrons of the store it will be news that the veteran merchant of Nevada City has now retired from active business. In the 38 year span of Mr. Leiter's ownership of the Lace House many a miner, many a poor wife and mother has received generous aid, in money or merchandise to tide them over a rough spot in life. His benefactions have never been proclaimed, for Mr. Leiter observes that Biblical injunction "Let not thy left hand know what thy right hand doeth." Mr. Leiter is more than a merchant. He is a friend.

Mrs. Miller declares that she is enchanted with Nevada City and with its people. The climate and the rugged hills, the gorgeous autumn colors, the historic buildings dating back to Argonaut days, she states, all have for her a wonderful appeal.

With her own staff from Oakland and the Lace House staff combined to help her, Mrs. Miller, has been working energetically since Tuesday, when the big sale was consummated, to get everything in readiness for the clean-sweep sale tomorrow. She wishes to emphasize the fact that she will carry a complete stock of men's goods, as well as everything in up-to-the-minute apparel and accessories for women and children. She proposes to give Nevada City and county one of the most modern wearing apparel, shops in communities of this size in California.

THRONG ATTENDS FASHION REVUE AT HIGH SCHOOL

(By BEN SWEENEY)

A delightful Thanksgiving program followed by a fashion revue was presented yesterday afternoon by the members of the home economics department of the Nevada City high school. At a general assembly held at 2:30, two skits were presented before the assembled student body. These skits, "Friends in Need" and "Mar No Name" met with the high approval of the audience. The combined boys and girls chorus under the direction of Mrs. Libbey, sang several Thanksgiving hymns after which the boys were excused for the afternoon.

The fashion revue, to which the public was cordially invited, was presented in a new and novel way. Upon the platform was arranged a huge book-like structure with the title "vogue" across its cover. The cover, as large as an ordinary door, was opened by one of the participants in the program, and the inside page revealed the title, "Fall Fashions."

The various styles were presented in the form of pages in the style book, more than twenty five being displayed by the home economics girls. Miss Bartholemew, in charge of the program, received congratulations on the organization and presentation of the revue.

Guests were served tea following the program, and the afternoon ended very leasantly for all involved.

DOWNIEVILLE ROAD IS NOW HIGHWAY NO. 49

The California Automobile association is now posting signs, with the familiar bear emblem at the top, along the Nevada City-Downieville Truckee highway. This highway will henceforth be known as California highway 49. The association turck with two men to erect the signs has been at work for several days.

Dr. W. P. Sawyer of Nevada City has the following patients under treatment for eye injuries and infections: Cecil Self, William Dooley, R. D. Williamson, Oliver Peterson and Mrs. Jerry Ruckavinia.

FRANK FINNEGAN HEADS CHAPTER OF RED CROSS

At the meeting of the Nevada City chapter of the American Red Cross Monday evening, Frank Finnegan was chosen president. Other officers elected were:

H. E. Kjorlie, vice president.
Belle Douglass, secretary.
Lloyd Dudley, treasurer.
Chairan Disaster Relief, R. J. Bennetts.
Veterans Relief, John O'Neill.
Junior Red Cross, Ella M. Austin.
Cotton Distribution, Mrs. Perry.
Roll Call chairman 1935, George Calanan.
Executive committee, Benjamin Hall, Mrs. Hefelfinger, Mrs. Goyne.
Board of Directors: Benjamin Hall, John O'Neill, G. J. Rector, Mrs. A. H. Tickell, R. R. Goyne, Garfield Robson, Ella Austin, George Jones, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. George Calanan, Mrs. George Gildersleeve.

Reports were made by the several chairmen and the officers.

The Junior Red Cross chairman told of the enrollment of all but two of the schools in the district and the project at this time is making Christmas boxes for less fortunate children. Interest is being taken in boxes for Guam, Samoa and Alaska and the talents of the youth are being displayed in works of art, in carving soap, cutting wooden ornaments and making menus for the holiday dinners of the veterans in hospitals.

The chapter will sponsor a home hygiene course for the girls of the senior class at the high school under supervision of Mrs. Hefelfinger, who contributes her time and effort without extra salary, a fact much appreciated by the chapter as well as the school officials.

Thanks was given Hon. H. L. Englebright and wife for representing the Nevada City group at the National convention in Washington, the past two years.

Mrs. Webber, state representative spoke at length on the projects of the organization, especially that of first aid at oil stations on highways, and a committee will be named to investigate the subject. Sierra county will install such a station at Indian Valley and other counties were mentioned as enthusiastic in the year's roll call, Nevada City being 12th on the lits of membership in California, rated according to population.

A home inspection campaign was suggested last year the number of domestic accidents resulted in almost as many deaths as traffic accidents.

A vote of thanks was given the Grass Valley Morning Union and the Nevada City Nugget for valuable publicity.

NEVADA CITY TO SEND MANY TO BIG GAME

Nevada City is certainly foot-ball minded this year as evidenced by exodus to take place from here Saturday to attend the Stanford-California game in the Stanford stadium on Saturday. Among those who will attend the game are: Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Hoge, Jr., George Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kopp, Dr. and Mrs. Alvah Morgan, Judge and Mrs. Raglan Tuttle, Mr. and Mrs. Harley M. Leete, Major and Mrs. Leroy Delaney, Miss Roxanne Boggs, Mr. and Mrs. Orlando McCraney, Bill Bennet, Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Hughes, Dr. and Mrs. Walter Hawkins, Charles Jeffries, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Finnegan, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Odegaard and sons, Mr. H. E. Kjorlie, Miss Nell Baggley, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Tamblyn, Miss Ruth Tamblyn, Ben Tamblyn, Miss T. Peterson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Leiter, Miss Lois Shaw, Miss Florence Smart and Myers Mobley, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rector.

COLLEGE FOLKS MAKE MERRY AT BIG GRID DINNER

Sons and daughters of the Golden Bear, and also the children of the Red Man of Palo Alto, together with those whose alma maters ranged North, South and East, sat down to a great dinner Wednesday evening in the Elks Home and sang the old songs and yelled the old yells. Oswki Wow Wows, Give'em the Ax, Stanford's rocket yell, and the Bear's growl, enlivened a gay dinner.

Judge Raglan Tuttle presided, Mrs. Carl Libby led the songs, Ben Sweeney and Ray Wilde were yell leaders, Judge George L. Jones, (California, 1895), Fred W. Nobs, (Stanford, 1895), H. R. Plate, (Stanford, 1899), Otto Schiffner (Montana, 1905), Earl Covey, (Stanford, 1920), and Myers Mobley, (California, 1926) were among the speakers. Judge Jones and Fred W. Nobs, were chosen by the toastmaster to respond to toasts to California and Stanford respectively. Both commented uon the advantages enjoyed by the students in the two institutions over a generation ago when undergraduates and faculty were one great family and knew each other intimately.

The committee which made all arrangements for the evening's entertainment consisted of Orlando McCraney, Myers Mobley, Miss Lois Shaw, Miss Tamblyn and Mrs. Bev. Barron. The tables were decorated in Cardinal and Blue and Gold colors.

Approximately 180 college folks sat down to dinner. Judge Tuttle commented on the fact that since the university of California alumni association was organized four years ago, with a dinner at which twenty persons attended, the number of collegians gathering for the annual pre-big game banquet had been constantly increasing.

Following the dinner a lively orchestra provided music for dancing in the spacious rooms of the Elks Home and the floor was crowded with a gay throng.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Davidson returned home Sunday after a few days spent in San Francisco where Mr. Davidson underwent treatment for an injury to his foot.

Oustomah Lodge of Odd Fellows of Nevada City conferred degrees on two candidates Tuesday evening at a most enjoyable meeting, in Odd Fellows Hall. A banquet was served after the meeting.

Interest Increases In Mine Investment

Despite the closing this past month of five of the smaller mining properties during the winter, there were four others which went into operation to offset the decrease in mine employment caused by shutting down. The mines which have temporarily closed are Remmington Hill, Jim, Morning Star, Siberia and Mack. Those which have resumed during the month are Check Payne, Green Mountain, Shovel Placer and True Drift.

It is reported Mr. O. O'Brien, official of the Hudson Auto company, is reopening the Plumbago mine in Sierra county, and that George Gamble of Proctor and Gamble, Ivory Soap manufacturer, is busy again with the Kenton mine. Representatives of several eastern firms or of well known capitalists are reported to be in this district now, examining mining claims and mines which are offered for sale.

Employment in Nevada county mines now totals 2,573 men and the monthly payroll has advanced to $360,220, which is a few hundred dollars more than recorded last month.

Development reports or various mining companies follow:

LAVA CAP MINE

Development and mining continues at a rapid pace at the Lava Cap mine, southeast of Nevada City and within a short time the property has become one of the leading mines of the district. Crews are in 3,000 feet from the portal of the mile-long tunnel that connects the Banner and the Central shafts, with 4,000 feet to go. The Mancha storage battery locomotive is in use on the 800 foot level in the Banner mine. The tailings retaining dam on the property is complete. It is 40 feet high and 230 feet long. The road on the property leading to the Central mine is being widened for a two way passage. The change house at Banner mine has been enlarged to accomodate about 60 men. A new storage house at the Central mine has just been completed and a machine shop is under construction. The shop will hold the lathe, shaper and radial drill press. The big 200 ton mill is treating about 180 tons of ore daily and there are 180 men employed. Mr. Otto E. Schiffner is superintendent.

SPANISH MINE

The tramway, that carries ore from the upper camp at the Spanish mine above Washington, has been closed temporarily and a test run of 500 tons of ore from the tunnel, at the lower camp, is to be made in the 80 ton daily capacity mill. A corrugated iron bunk house at the lower camp burned to the ground early this week and five miners lost all of their belongings. It is thought an oil stove exploded in the bunk house setting fire to the wooden framework. Mr. Bert Harden is superintendent.

Death and Doctors

(Contributed)

In the current controversy raging in the press and elsewhere over whether or not a doctor should end the life of a person ill or injured beyond all hope of even partial recovery, the American Medical Association has taken a definite stand.

Dr. Morris Fishbein, generally accepted spokesman for the profession, has said the doctor should not take upon himself the power of deciding between life and death, even when a patient requests to die.

Perhaps it is unfortunate that no "way out" can be offered those beyond hope, but Dr. Fishbein's reasons seem to indicate that the Association's stand guarantees the "greatest good for the greatest number."

He points out first that no doctor can definitey say that any illness or injury is hopelessly incurable. Besides, he says, "Any dying person is irrational, and is not responsible for what he says. If he recovers, his attitude is entirely different and he regrets what he said."

Another physician called to mind the oath of Hippocrates, which millions of doctors have taken during the past 2,000 years, and which has been accepted as sound practice down through the ages.

"If any shall ask of me a drug to produce death I will not give it nor will I suggest such counsel." That is the oath.

The American Medical Association is not lacking in sympathy for sufferers. It is merely that the danger of taking life needlessly prevents them from relieving these unfortunates.

DECALCOMANIA LIQUOR STAMPS ON SALE TODAY

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—Sale of decalcomania stamps, which will supplant paper stamps as the medium of collecting California's liquor tax, will begin today, it was announced by the State Board of Equalization.

The new stamps, which have been adopted by many states throughout the country as a safeguard against counterfeiting or re-use of tax stamps, will be available at all district offices of the Board.

The Board's statement predicted that increased collections under the liquor tax, due to elimination of the present abuse of "sweating" stamps from empty bottles and re-using them on bootleg liquor, will quickly cancel the additional cost of buying high-grade stamps to replace the cheap paper stamps now in use.

Simultaneously, the Board announced that the American Decalcomania Company of Chicago, which was awarded the contract to provide the state with the new highly-protected stamps, has selected Los Angeses as the site for a California branch factory which will handle its business on the West Coast.

The statement issued by the Board of Equalization follows:

"Sale of the new decalcomania stamps, ordered by the Board to supplant paper stamps used in collection of the liquor excis tax, will begin today at all district offices.

"These stamps, we believe, fully comply with the provision in the Liquor Control charging the Board with the responsibility of providing stamps which offer the maximum protection against counterfeiting and re-use. The same type of stamp is in use in the great majority of the states employing a stamp tax to collect beverage and cigarette taxes and has thus far stood the test of every attempt at counterfeiting or re-use.

"The American Decalcomania Company, which manufactures the stamps, has agreed to post a $50,000 bond with the state, guaranteeing that the stamps cannot be "sweated" from bottles, or removed and re-used in any other manner."

"In view of the fact that certain disgruntled printing and lithograph companies, whose products failed to afford the desired protection against counterfeiting and re-use, have waged a deliberate campaign of misrepresentation against this contract, the Board is happy to announce that its stamp contract, instead of taking business out of the state, will bring new business and new employment to our state."

NEVADA CO. TEACHERS TO ATTEND INSTITUTE

Nevada County school teachers will convene with the teachers of eighteen other counties, in institute to be held in Sacramento the first three days of next week.

At Mondays session Governor Frank F. Merriam of California will give his views on educational problems Monday when he speaks before the 3000 teachers from nineteen Northern California counties at the annual Northern California Teachers' institute in Sacramento. Merriam will be the first speaker on the Monday morning program.

Merriam will be followed by Dr. Vierling Kersey, state superintendent of public instruction, who will speak on the subject "Education Never Stands Still."

EDWARD C. WHITING IS GRASS VAL. COUNCILMAN

Edward C. Whiting of Grass Valley was appointed city councilman of Grass Valley by Mayor John Harris and Councilman Matt Laity and took the oath of office Tuesday morning. Edward C. Whiting was appointed to succeed his late father Edward F. Whiting. His appointment was made at a special meeting of the council on Tuesday morning and he will serve until the completion of the present term, June 30, 1935.

what Irvin S. Cobb thinks about:

Will Rogers' Memorial.

SANTA MONICA.—Where I sit writing this, I can see his home across the canyon. There's still sunlight on the top, but the folds in the friendly hills are turning purple.

The most typical humorist since Mark Twain, the most beloved commoner since Abraham Lincoln, the most popular private citizen since Benjamin Franklin, his fame is an everlasting rock. Why, then, a monument of our fashioning to one who was a national institution whilst he lived, who became a national tradition almost before the breath left his body?

Irvin S. Cobb

Nevertheless it is fitting that on his birthday this country should launch this memorial. For to help perpetuate the bright glory of that name is an obligation we owe to ourselves—a testimony of gratitude for a man amongst us who poured out so freely the precious gifts of sanity and sweetness, generosity and gallantry, a philosophy that was kindly, a wit that was salty but never was sour. You gave us so much, Bill, we're just figuring on paying a little something back on account.

* * *

Signs of Normalcy.

WE MUST be headed for normalcy. I'm back on somebody's sucker list. As a charter member of the original mother lodge, I belong there. I'm a boob Ben Adhem whose name led all the rest.

Today I received, not a list of selected foreign bonds—that'll come later—but a prospectus about a gorgeous gold mining proposition with all the regular by-products guaranteed, such as quicksilver, lead, copper, mothballs and, I think, amalgam fillings.

Sorry I can't invest in this new bonanza. But I'm saving up to go into an equally timely enterprise. It's a buggy-whip factory, and on the side we're going to turn out flintlock muskets for the United States army.

* * *

Selecting a Candidate.

I'VE found out who the forgotten man is. It's any Republican officeholder above the grade of assistant state geologist who hasn't been proposed by self or friends for next year's Presidential nomination.

On every side, disinterested patroits feverishly suggest some deathless name that nobody outside the immediate family ever heard of and, lo, a national figure whose fame doesn't cover as much territory as a milk route is in the running. Almost anybody who can read and write appears to be eligible, especially if he lithographs well, and, if he has also the firm yet clinging handshake, his stock goes right up.

The concern is for a candidate only. When it comes to a platform, the Democrats can lend them one which has been used hardly any, if at all.

* * *

Return to Prohibition.

ALL else aside, some of us contend there were two main underlying reasons why this country went "dry" the way it did go. One reason was brewers. The other was distillers.

If a person of dubious repute opened a saloon in a neighborhood already over-provided, where, in order to live, he must break the liquor laws, there was, too often, a type of brewer ready to put up for the license and a type of distiller to help out with the rest.

Basically, it was the inarticulate resentment of orderly people against such practices which plunged us into the ghastly legislative error miscalled prohibition.

Now, with that mistake so nearly cured, one hears it directly charged that certain producers of alcoholic drinks are greedily back at the same old tricks.

Well, the next time the people of this country vote liquor out—and there'll be a next time, unless the sane men in the industry can curb the offenders within their own ranks—it'll be for keeps, no matter how deplorable the results in bootleggery and graft and crime and corruption.

You can tell a lunk-headed profiteer as far as you can see—but you can't tell him anything else.

* * *

Upholding the Constitution.

SO HEATED is the controversy over the imperiled Constitution that professional politicians are all agog, many going out of one severe gog right into another, accompanied by chills, fever and high blood pressure.

Everywhere you look, you see disputants, all lathered up with excitement, who wouldn't recognize that immortal document if they ran into it sitting in the middle of the big road, laying eggs.

I am offering a suitable prize—namely, Grimm's Fairy Tales in words of one syllable—to the first national committeeman, Democratic or Republican, who can tell offhand whether the Constitution starts off, "When in the course of human events," or, "Now is the time for all good men to come to the aid of the party."

Besides, I'd like to know myself.

MINING NEWS

ZEIBRIGHT MINE

Hauling of gravel from near Nevada City to the Zeibright mine about 25 miles east of this city, for cement foundations for the big 400 ton mill, was completed about ten days ago. All material for the big plant is on the ground. The old mill is handling ore mined from long tunnels being run into the mountain. As the mining progresses the whole mountain, which is for the most part low grade ore, will be milled. Winter supplies were taken to the property in the last few weeks. E. Bennett is manager.

MISFORTUNE CLOSES TWO PROPERTIES

Two mining properties near Columbia Hill north of Nevada City were closed in recent weeks through mishaps to the operators. F. E. Bigelow, operating the Morning Star mine on a lease, was taken ill and was forced to close down. At the Siberia mine in the same district, one of the two men working the property received a badly crushed leg in a mine accident, necessitating the closing of the property.

CHECK PAINE PROPERTY

Alfred Nicholson of Nevada City is developing and mining the Check Payne mine west of this city, adjoining the old Champion mine on Deer Creek. Ten men are employed on two shifts and have a new shaft down 48 feet on the ledge, and will continue to sink for some time to develop a large ore body. A tunnel was also driven 170 feet on the ledge which averages two feet, and carries good gold values. A small mill on the prone treats two tons of ore per hour. Harry Spears is foreman. The Check Payne mine is the old Nicholson ranch of 100 acres which is now owned by Mr. Nicholson's brother, H. C. Nicholson of Union, Nevada.

MACK MINE

Bruce Wallace of Los Angeles, who spent the summer unwatering and doing development work at the Mack Mine in the Canada Hill district, southeast of Nevada City drew all the pumps and closed the mine for the winter this week.

TRUE DRIFT GRAVEL PROPERTY

G. A. Bigelow has a lease on the True Drift gravel property located not far from the True Grit gravel mine above Badger Hill. A shaft has been sunk 80 feet and cross cutting to an ancient channel is underway, the men are working two shifts.

SHOVEL PLACER

Thomas Bigelow of North Columbia was a Nevada City visitor last Wednesday and stated his company is operating a drag line shovel on the Shovel Placer property. Large gravel deposits in the stream bed are being worked.

JIM MINE

Last Sunday, when the Jim Mine closed for the winter, a big tractor was used to break road through 20 inches of snow from near Graniteville to Washington a distance of about 20 miles. They arrived during the afternoon and the tractor was stored in Washington. Charles Columbus and three sons have been working at the property. It will reopen in the spring when it is possible to get to the mine. The company composed of Southern California men, had had a splendid season having drifted to a paying ledge of ore, brought in and installed a mill and other equipment. During the past few weeks two shifts were employed in operating the mill. From reliable sources it is learned this is to be one of the new producers of the Nevada County field. Between fifteen and twenty men were employed at the property.

GERMAN BAR MINE

It is understood there are eight men at the German Bar property above North Bloomfield. Mining and development continue with the newly installed mill treating the ore. The property will be worked all winter. Thomas Stephens is superintendent.

GRUENWALD PROPERTY

Willis E. Bell and two sons have a lease on a part of the Otto Gruenwald property in the Indian Flat district west of Nevada City. The rest of the ground is also under lease to other parties. Two shafts are down 50 and 75 feet and cross cutting has started toward a ledge that carries good values in gold. Five local men are employed on the property.

RAGON MINE

N. Y. RACKETEERS ROB GROWERS OF CALIFORNIA

(By RALPH H. TAYLOR)

Turning the spotlight on New York racketeers who have preyed on fruit and vegetable growers and other farmers by levying fake hauling charges against produce shipped to the eastern markets, the California Fruit Growers and Farmers Convention, which will be held at Sacramento, December 4-6, will probably demand that the federal government intervene to stamp out the trucking racket combines.

The expose of the New York farm produce racket, which has plundered farmers of millions of dollars, with California and other western growers as easy victims because of their great distance from market, is expected to result in demands on both New York city officials and federal authorities to proceed against the racketeers with indictments and prosecutions.

Charles S. Brooks, of Salinas, secretary of the Grower Shipper Vegetable Assocaition of California, who has investigated the racket, will report his findings to the farm convention and open the discussion of steps to be taken in freeing California farmers of paying further tribute to the racketeers.

TRUCKING RACKET

According to the inquiries conducted by California farm organization representatives, the racketeers are in charge of New York trucking combines which have seized complete control of the handling of California fresh produce commodities and in fact, practically all commodities arriving in New York, whether by rail, water, or truck.

Drastic direct action by the combine against any firm or organization which refuses to pay has virtually eliminated opposition, the investigators learned, and appeals to the New York police have brought no relief. Mayor LaGuardia, however, recently has taken cognizance of the situation and has named a fact-finding commission to inquire into it.

The racket is carried on by means of "charges" for mythical hauls. The current rate of tribute, for example, is 15 cents per crate on lettuce and carrots and 7 cents per crate on cauliflowers and tomatoes. And the net result is that shippers must stand the expense of unnecessary or fake hauls averaging from $35 to $55 per car.

HOW THE BANDITS WORK

Explaining the operation of the racket, all fresh fruits and vegetables sold at auction, as well as many other commodities from districts other than the western states which are disposed of at private sale, are sold either at the piers in New York city, the railroad yards or Jersey City, or the New York Central yards and delivery is taken there by the wholesale or retail buyer and hauled directly to his place of business. In some instances, goods are sold at the cars and delivery taken there by the receivers customers.

But regardless of the method of sale, or delivery, the illegal trucking combine demands its toll for handling the goods. In some cases, the trucks of the combine actually insist on hauling the goods to the end of the dock, where they are transferred to the buyers trucks. But in a majority of instances, the racketeers merely pass the commodities over their trucks to the buyer's trucks—thereby technically handling the goods to give a veneer of legality to their high-handed banditry.

The whole farce is carried out under the cloak of an agreement, or understanding, that all perishables arriving for sale in New York are subject to a hauling charge. The racket has existed for many years, but has been extended in recent years to apply to virtually every commodity received in New York, including wines and canned goods.

GROWERS MUST ACT

It is to be hoped that the Fruit Growers and Farmers Convention will take positive and decisive action to secure the cooperation of the proper authorities in stamping out this vicious racket. Under interstate commerce laws, the federal government has ample authority to step in, if New York city officials fail to act. Two federal indictments were returned against leaders in the hauling racket in 1933, but the cases have not been brought to trial. If necessary, California farmers should appeal direct to Governor Merriam and President Roosevelt for aid in cracking down on the racketeers.

Word has been received in Nevada City that Mr. Herbert Cooper, manager of the Drum division of the P. G. & E. is confined to his home in Auburn by illness.

"EVERY NIGHT AT EIGHT" AT THEATRE SAT.

"Every Night at Eight" will be at the Nevada Theatre tomorrow night. It is as blue-chasing, heart warming piece of funny business as has come along in a month of musicals.

The picture opens on a gay note with Frances Langford, Alice Fale and Patsy Kelly as stenographer, switchboard operator and bottle packer respectively in a mint julep factory getting fired from their jobs for practicing their harmony singing in the boss's office. Broke and homeless they decide to try their luck as singing trio on an amateur hour. At the radio station they lose the prize to George Raft who appears this time in a new kind of dramatic role, that of a conceited band leader. Attracted to the girls and seeing their possibilities, he starts them on their career, as the Swanee Sisters. He builds them up to be a trio of sweet, unsophisticated southern girls, makes them dress alike, look alike, and in general manages their lives for them.

Under Raft's severe discipline they rise from their lowly amateur standing to queens of the air waves, sponsored by their ex-employer on his mint julep program. When Miss Langford believes that Raft does not return her love, she rebels with the other two girls, deserts the nightly broadcast and goes off on a swanky yachting party. A climax, packed with thrills, romance and action, grings the trio to their senses.

Raft reveals a new side to his talents, and gives one of his best performances to date in the role of orchestra leader, injecting into his performance a sympathetic egotism and charm that the part demands. Frances Langford, radio star, makes her screen debut in the film. Gifted with a splendid voice and brunette beauty she can definitely be classed as having potentialties for future stardom. Alice Faye contributes admirably to the musical as a skillful actress and an able singer. Patsy Kelly carries off comedy honors on the feminine side in a part made to order for her particular kind of hilarious wise-cracking.

The Radio Rogues, famous other stars and comedians of no mean ability, with Walter Catlett, contribute the laughs during the amateur hour sequence. Such tunes as "Then You've Never Been Blue," "Take It Easy." "I Feel a Song Coming On," "Speaking Confidentially" and others provide a bright, romantic, musical background.

MRS. ALPHA HANSEN GIVES BAIL AND LEAVES JAIL

Alpha Lattin Hansen, charged with perjury, Wednesday was released from jail on $1,000 bond, furnished by William T. Blakely.

This week Mrs. Hansen was bound over to the superior court at her preliminary hearing on the charge. The complaint was sworn to by Thomas Hall, who with D. L. Tatro, had been working on a two-story apartment house for Mrs. Hansen. The woman had charged the two men with violating the state contractor's law. At the trial the men were acquitted and then the perjury warrant was issued against Mrs. Hansen on the ground she swore to false testimony.

Miss Madeleine Gibbons came over from the Betty Jean shop in Oroville Thursday bringing many new and attractive dresses and accessories for the local store.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Landsborough of Florin are guests of Mr. Landsborough's sister, Mrs. O. McCraney, and family.

REPUBLIC GOLD MINE

MOUNTAIN VIEW PROPERTY

Work started last Tuesday on the sinking of a 200 foot shaft at the Mt. View mine on the South Yuba River northwest of Washington. The new road to the mine was completed this week. The old road was on the south side of the river and all materials had to be handled by tram line. Several truck loads of pipe and equipment, besides winter supplies were taken to the property in the last few days. It is understood plans are to generate electririty at the mine for lighting and operation of the plant. Four new cottages, boarding house and bunk house have been completed at the mine this summer and work will continue all winter at the property. Mr. J. F. White of Southern California is in charge.

PLUMBAGO MINE

About 25 men are employed at the Plumbago mine at Alleghany, which is being re-opened. The old buildings are undergoing repairs, and several new ones are under construction. Clearing out and retimbering of mine workings is well under way. The 20-stamp mill is treating ore mined in development operations. A. B. Campbell is superintendent. It is understood Mr. O'Brien head of the Hudson Motor Car Company in the east, has taken over the property. Mr. O'Brien's wife is a cousin of Edsel Ford, Ford car manufacturer. This mine has a good past production and it is reported Mr. O'Brien is making lasting improvements with the intention of bringing the property back into high production.

SNIPERS

Mr. J. W. Whitmar came in from Purdons Bridge on the South Yuba River north of Lake Vera Wednesday. He sold some gold which he had mined from the river. Mr. Whitmar stated the water is getting high but quite a number of snipers are still on the river and streams. They are making from 25 to 50 cents per day, barely enough to live on.

AETNA MINE

The Aetna Mine near the Queen Lil Mill on the Nevada City-Downieville highway, has ben taken over by the Wiljobar Mining Corporation which now operates the Frederic Mine in Willow Valley.

John Bardill, president of the Wiljobar Corporation who has direct charge of operations here, says the shaft at the Aetna will be sent down about 125 feet for exloration purposes.

GREEN MOUNTAIN PROPERTY

Kistle Brothers of Nevada City have reopened a 400 foot tunnel and drifted 65 feet to the main ledge on the property opening up a three foot ledge of ribbon ore in the fact. Development continues on the ledge which carries good values.

SPRING HILL MINE

The 100-ton daily capacity mill at the Spring Hill mine is treating over 100 tons of ore every 24 hours. The mill has run continuously since it started operations in September. Sixty five men are employed. Mining and development continue, and stoping of ore has started. H. R. Plate is in charge.

SAN JUAN MINE

Mining and development continues in good ore in the San Juan mine, North San Juan, crews working two shifts. Many tons of ore are hauled by truck to the Narrow Gauge railroad in Nevada City each month for shipment to a reduction plant near Seattle. Ray Butterfield is superintendent for the Bradley interests who own the property.

THANKSGIVING DANCE AT SAN JUAN SAT.

The biggest dance of the season is to take place at Twamley Hall in North San Juan on Saturday night, November 23, with Eddie Meltz's Orchestra furnishing the scintillating, syncronating music. The dance is given under the auspices of the North San Juan Ridge Improvement League and the whole ridge will be there and they want their friends from everywhere else to come and have a good, gay time with them. There will be a door prize, a waltz prize and a big turkey supper, home cooked and served with true Ridge hospitality. The ladies of the league will cook the turkeys and make the old fashioned pumpkin pies. Better come up and have a good time.

Mrs. Charles L. Gilmore, secretary of the Sacramento Chapter of the Mining Association of California has announced that the November and December meetings of the chapter will be combined into one meeting to be held on December 12.

GREAT NORTHERN MINE

In the Great Northern, or Hoge mine, ore is being mined on the 300 foot, 450 foot and 600 foot levels. Fine gold recovery is being made from the ore treated in the big mill on the property. The Great Northern consists of about 1200 acres of ground situated northeast of Nevada City.

BRUSWICK MINE

Three hundred and fifty tons of ore per day are now being treated at the Brunswick mill, surpassing the tonnage of the Ihado-Maryland.

STATE'S TURKEY CROP IS VALUED AT 5 MILLION

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 21.—With the approach of Thanksgiving, the State Department of Agriculture reminded housewives that when they buy a festive bird it is wise to have the market man reweigh the bird to make sure that the weight is the same as that indicated on the tag attached to the turkey.

California's turkey crop this year is valued at $5,000,000.

C. E. Tucker, chief of the Division of Weights and Measures, stated that it was well established that the majority of market men are honest in their weights but that in some cases there has been a fluctuation discovered in the weight of the bird as tagged and in the weight as recorded on the scales.

The department added some further information about turkeys and the turkey industry in California.

The varieties of turkeys produced in this state are the Bronze, Bourbon Reds, Narragansetts, and White Holland, with an occasional Black or Slate. The bronze is by far the most popular breed, and bronze turkeys are produced as compared with other varieties in about the same proportion as the white Leghorn to other breeds of chickens.

The last census indicated a yearly production of approximately 1,500,000 for California. Since that time there has been a considerable increase. Texas ranks first as a turkey producer. California is now either second or third, but before long will probably lead in this industry.

The output from hatcheries for the year showed an increase of approximately 45 per cent. A large part of this increase, however, was wiped out by heavy mortality among poults. It is believed that even with the enormous loss there will still be an increase over last year.

CHRISTMAS JOYS PROMISED FOR RIDGE CHILDREN

(By KATHERINE BRAITHWAITE)

The North San Juan Ridge unit of the P. T. A. is going steadily forward with their plans to give the Ridge children from French Corral to Cherokee a splendid Christmas party. A whist party will be held in the school house on the evening of December 6th to obtain cash for this purpose. There will be two first prizes, two consolation prizes, and a door prize for this event. A charge of 25 cents will be made at the door which will include refreshments.

The Christmas party for the children is scheduled for the evening of December 20th. This will enable the children and their parents to attend the party five days before Christmas and prevents interference with home plans and presents. The main feature of this party will be a Christmas tree and a Santa Claus. But the teachers and children will present a varied but interesting program.

The spirit of Christmas is in the air and the children are filled with eager anticipation. Their eyes are bright with joy and in each little heart is the great hope that Santa Claus will not overlook someone this year. And those of us who are the messengers of Santa Claus can bestir ourselves a bit and make certain that those same wistful eyes will still be bright and that there will be no gnawing ache of disapointment for these little ones the day after Christmas.

It is hoped that everyone will help make this Christmas one that the Ridge children will long remember. The fathers of most of these children have had no work since the SERA was discontinued and the relief checks are not large enough to allow for such luxuries as Christmas presents. Many little boys and girls will be totally without a festive Christmas unless this P. T. A. plan is carried out. The children of the poor suffer more with disappointment at this time than on any other day in the year. And it makes one smile, perhaps with a catch in the throat, at the happiness of a little child over the very simpliest of gifts. It will require only a bit of energy and a donation of any kind to help make this Christmas something worth remembering.

The P. T. A. extends a hearty welcome to the North San Juan Ridge Improvement League to co-operate in all of these plans. A committee comprised of Mrs. Joe Young and Mrs. Percy Hepburn have been requested to obtain permission of the league for the use of Twamley Memorial Hall for this happy affaid.

HI STUDENTS REHEARSE BIRDS' XMAS CAROL

With the addition of two new members to the cast of "The Birds' Christmas Carol," the student body play being prepared for production by the Nevada City high school, rehearsals are being held regularly.

The two new members of the cast are Georgia Glennon and Bob Grant who will play the parts of "Kitty" and "Cornelius" respectively.

CCC ENROLLEES TO TOTAL 16,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 21.—Approximately 16,000 young men will be engaged in the preservation of forests, prevention of soil erosion, conservation of wild life and similar activities in California when the state's 1935-36 CCC program is fully under way, it was announced today by Dayton Jones, state director of CCC activities.

Enlistment in the corps is now closed until after the first of the year, but when the program again attains full headway, it is planned to have no less than 133 camps organized throughout the state.

Of the total number of camps, 64 will be located on forest projects where the men will be engaged in forest protection and improvement work, said Jones.

According to the program outlined by Jones, the balance of the camps will be located as follows. One on a biological survey, ten on soil conservation service projects, one on a Bureau of Reclamation project, three on Bureau of Grazing projects, three on National Monument projects, 21 on state parks and three on military reservations.

A Logical Conclusion

They were delving in the rubble
Of a city lost for ages,
Turning back with eager fingers
Time's obscured and dusty pages;
Finding here a shattered column,
There a vestibule or pantry,
Finding broken tablets bearing
Cryptic epigram or chantry.

Pat McGrady, common workman,
Found a slab with cuni on it,
Held it up in hands that trembled,
Gazed with widened eyes upon it;
"Sure," said he, "if thim ould haythens
Had to read this vile writin',
'Tis no wonder that they settled
All their argumints wid fightin'."

Soon amid the wierd inscriptions
Pat observed a crude B. C.,
"Now what can thim Christian letters
Be a-doin' here?" said he;
Then, "We've found an ould library,"
Shouted wild eyed Pat McGrady,
"An' thim crooked B. C. letters
Simply means Before Carnagie!"

WINTER SPORTS AT KILBORN LAKE CAMP

Winter camp at the Kilborn Lake Lodge of the scouts has been announced by Scout Executive Harris Ricksecker for December 31st to January 4th through the regular winter camp bulletin to scouts through their scoutmasters. The five day session will provide ample time for snow sports and the practice of skiing. In addition this year skating will be introduced. An experiment was made last year along this line by scraping away snow from the top of the ice. Magically several pairs of skates were produced and this sport was enjoyed until stopped by a fresh fall of snow.

New Years eve will be celebrrated and a special program will be prepared. As in the past five years scouts from Marin county, Petaluma and Vallejo will attend.

Mr. Joe O'Neill, genial kindly custodian at Washington grammar school was able to return to his work today, after an illness of several weeks.

STATE LEADS IN GRAPES, ORANGE PRUNES, PEACHES

Ranked on a basis of bearing acreages, California boasts four major fruit crops with plantings of more than 100,000 acres each, according to a census of groves and vineyards just completed by the federal, state crop reporting service.

Grapes top the list in the count of acres, with a total of 499,186 acres devoted to vineyards, divided as follows: raisin varieties, 230,330 acres; wine grapes, 181,478 acres and table varieties, 87,278 acres. The grape plantings have dropped off 136,278 acres, however during the past seven years, with the heaviest decline in raisin varieties.

Second in acreage, but first in income, orange groves total 211,346 acres, according to the federal-state report, with 114,722 acres devoted to Valencias and 96,624 acres in Navels and other varieties. The area in production has increased nearly 27,000 acres during the seventeen year period studied.

The California prune is third in line, with 166,104 acres (approximately the same acreage reported in 1927), and peaches are fourth with 103,295 acres, about evenly divided between clingstones and freestones. Total peach plantings fell off about 20,000 acres in the seven years.

Indicative of the great diversification in the California fruit industry, the acreage census also recorded fifteen other fruit crops, some with heavy acreages and others in the first stages of development.

In the citrus industry, the bearing acreage of grapefruit has doubled during seven years and now totals 12,648 acres, while lemons, with little change in acreage, account for 41,451 acres.

Leading deciduous fruits other than paeches, include apples, 41,193 acres; apricots, 78,795 acres; cherries, 14,551 acres; pears, 68,969 acres; and plums 31,358 acres. In the smaller acreage group, the federal-state report gave nectarines, 2,096 acres (first commercial plantings were made six years ago); persimmons, 1,929 acres; quinces, 231 acres.

In the listing of "specialty fruits," avocados, a new industry, jumped from less than 700 acres in 1927 to 7,507 acres in bearing at the start of 1935, with 5,876 additional acres as yet non-producing. Other specialties included olives, 24,524 acres; figs, 41,526 acres dates, 1,244 acres and pomegranates 754 acres.

Among nuts walunts have forged far to the front in the Cali;fornia industry, with 117,304 acres in production, a gain of 36,186 acres.

Almonds making a small acreage increase, now total 71,804 acres, as compared to 66,104 in 1927.

Other nuts include 274 acres of chestnuts, 167 acres of pecans and 11 acres of filberts.

Meeting the twin problems of depression and an expanding industry, the California Fruit Growers Exchange reports that exchange exports of oranges this season were 2 3-4 times greater than the past five year average, with sales on the domestic market 15 per cent greater than in any preceding year.

An investment of $1,500,000 in advertising was a dominant factor in moving an all-time record crop, according to the citrus cooperative.

It happened in a night club in Saratoga Springs. A fellow was dancing all over everybody else on the floor. Suddenly he bumped into a young man. Growled the former: "Aw, why dancha learn to dance?" The other said nothing. He was Fred Astaire.—Variety.

STATE PIONEERS OF EDUCATION

(By ROY W. CLOUD)
State Executive Secretary
California Teachers Association

Editor's Note: California's public school system is regarded as one of the two outstanding system of the United States, New York State alone challenging comparison. This series of ten articles is intended to familiarize friends of the schools and the public generally with outstanding pioneers who have contributed to the development, since 1849, of California's pre-eminent public school system.

CHARLES H. ALLEN

Charles H. Allen, for sixteen years (1873-1889) president of the San Jose State Normal School, holds a pre-eminent place in the history o the education of California. The place is his by virtue of the tremendous importance of his work in the training of teachers in this pioneer institution in the formative days of our public school system during the last generation.

With teaching experience in New York and Wisconsin, he came to the San Jose Normal School in 1872 as teacher of Natural Science. At the University of Wisconsin he had been in charge of the Normal Department. It was largely due to his influence that the University was opened to women students. He had been president for a time of the State Normal School at Plattsville, Wisconsin.

At the San Jose Normal School outstanding capacity elevated him, after he had been there but a year, to the presidency of the institution.

For sixteen years then President Allen devoted himself, with the ardent zeal of the genuinely inspired leader, to the improvement of California teachers. As his fame spread in educational circles, the institution grew in numbers and enlarged in professional status. He made time during his busy school years to attend teacher institues in all parts of the state, firing the hearts of teachers who heard him with his enthusiasm.

Charles H. Allen believed in the future of America, and from the time he took his residence in California, his faith in the future of his adopted state was made evident by his enthusiasm for his work.

Most of all, however, he had faith in the future of the youth of this state and nation. He believed that the destiny of America lay in educating all the people to better and more wholesome lives. Education to him was both a social and an individual problem. The individual could not hope to achieve a good, happy life without education; society could not expect to achieve a safe and permanent existence without the utmost effort and care in matters pertaining to education.

Realizing the great breadth of the educational field, Allen threw himself into the work of producing better teachers, To him the teacher was the very "soul" of the school.

His own great enthusiasm for teaching attracted hundreds of the state's best young manhood and womanhood to the profession. As head of the San Jose Normal School, he inspired these young men and women to seek self-improvement in order to serve better the childhood of the state and nation.

The schools, the teachers, and the thousands of California citizens who have come up through the public schools of this state have all benefited, more perhaps than they can ever know, by the services of Charles H Allen.

In the words of a resolution passed by the board of trustees of the San Jose State Normal School at the time of his retirement from the presidency in 1889, "California, indeed, the whole Pacific Coast owes him a debt of gratitude that can never be repaid."

NEW HOUSES ARE BUILDING HERE

Several new homes are under construction in Nevada City and among them are: Mr. William Broomfield is having a residence built at the northern limits of Nevada City on the Lake Vera road.

Mr. P. E. P. Mitchell, who purchased the Roy Jones house adjoining the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Foreman, is enlarging and remodeling the building for a home. Mr. Jones moved to Nevada City from Sweetland a short time ago and is engineer on the WPA project at the court house.

John Macari, dairyman, has subdivided a tract of land into lots near his home on Long street. Mr. H. J. Hendricks is the first to buy a home site and he is erecting a four room home.

DELINQUENT TAXES

H. B. MORSE, MINING MAN, BACK IN JAIL

After receiving a suspended sentence of 60 days in jail on conviction of failure to post a notice at the Metals Consolidated mine, on Monday, H. B. Morse, the manager was arrested again on Tuesday, on a complaint of D. D. Woodwith, a former employe, who alleged that Morse had knowingly and frauduently withheld payment of $280 for his services. He was arraigned on the charge before Justice of the Peace Mobley and his bond fixed at $3,000. Failing to produce bail he was remitted to the custody of the sheriff.
